

P. N. CORSETS

Some of the good features of the P. N. Practical Side Corsets. The extra side pieces make the breaking down of the Corset impossible. These side pieces can be removed from the pockets where they are set and reversed from time to time, insuring permanent shapeliness to the Corsets and adding to the ease of service. The cork steel protector used in all P. N. Corsets will keep the front steel from breaking and rusting. We recommend that you try a pair of P. N. Corsets. Prices: 50c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

NOW PLAYING IN NEW YORK.

"In the Bishop's Carriage" Company, Which Recently Played in Barre.

The company which played "In the Bishop's Carriage" at the Barre opera house recently, is now at the Grand Opera house in New York. After an engagement there they go to Brooklyn for two weeks, playing in two different theaters. The New York Sun of yesterday says of the opening night:

"In the Bishop's Carriage," a play based upon Miriam Michaelson's novel, had its first metropolitan hearing last night over on Eighth avenue at the Grand Opera house, and an audience, packed the house, thought that it was great.

"The book was full of action; so full that not more than a half of it could be used by a dramatist, and perhaps that is the reason why Channing Pollock's play differs so considerably from the original. The episode of the girl fireproofed who escapes from a tight place by jumping into the bishop's carriage and telling the old gentleman an ingenious tale, is utilized in the first act of course, and so is the general theme of her reform, but in making the play the general idea rather than the entire plot has been used and the result is a drama that is only a bit better than the ordinary.

"Jessie Busley is featured in the piece and she succeeded last night in making her Nance Olden exactly the heroine of the story. Nance Olden was a smart crook who learned to steal when she was a child in the custody of the Children's Society. The Crook's she called it. It's a melodramatic sort of a play. Dorgan, as played by James Keane, is as fine a blackjack using burglar as ever burgled with the lights turned down, and the second act scene, in which the pair are discovered at work, is the best bit in the play. Some of the other situations are perhaps a trifle stager, but there's a lot of action, and that's what Eighth avenue liked. Before audiences of the same sort the play is sure to succeed. Whether the play is enough of a finished product to convince a more critical and cynical Broadway audience is another matter. The hero, William Lattimer, for instance, as played by Byron Douglas, was just a bit too good to be true. For one thing the newspaper men in the audience were thankful. In the last act there's a reporter who's the real thing."

HER HENS LAY.

Mrs. Eben Dodge Has a Good Flock, Too.

Plainfield, Feb. 27.—Having recently read several accounts of the profits derived from poultry this season, Mrs. Eben Dodge wishes to add an item. From Dec. 15 to Feb. 15, besides the eggs used in the family she sold 113 5-6 dozen, receiving for same $31.55. During the last sixteen days in Dec. she received 261 eggs, of which she sold 21 dozen, receiving $7.01. In January she received 778 eggs, selling 64 1/2 dozen, receiving $16.80, and during the first fifteen days in February received 344 eggs of which she sold 28 3-4 dozen for $7.74 and in spite of cold weather the hens continue to do well. She has during the season used green ground bone and meat prepared by W. H. Martin and consider it the best poultry food on the market.

MEXICAN LABORERS STARVE.

Held Up on Texas Border and Barred From Work.

Monterey, Mex., Feb. 27.—Word has been received here from Juarez, Chihuahua, to the effect that more than 2,000 Mexican laborers, most of them with their families, are starving and without work at that point.

For some time past steady streams of Mexican laborers have been going to Juarez to cross into Texas and get work. When the stringent immigration regulations were recently put into force all those who had not crossed found themselves stranded at the border. There is said to be terrible suffering among them and the aid of the Mexican authorities has been invoked.

Special Village Meeting Called to Consider Ithiel Falls Project.

This act empowers the village of Johnson to construct and maintain an electric light plant and to take any water power or lands necessary for the purpose with a provision for the appointment of a commission to determine the price if it cannot be agreed upon by the interested parties.

HIGGINS WAS NOT SO RICH.

Ex-Governor's Estate Said to Be Only $1,250,000.

New York, Feb. 27.—In the report, which came from Olean following the death of ex-Gov. Higgins it was stated that he had left an estate of the value of from $14,000,000 to $16,000,000. One of his friends who is in a position to speak with authority concerning the affairs of the family was at the Fifth Avenue hotel Monday night and said that this was great exaggeration. He said that the executors would in a few days make a report to the inheritance tax commissioners and that it would be shown by the report that the value of the estate was not more than $1,250,000.

WHY OUR GRAM BREAD

HAS REAL VALUE

Probably every housewife knows how Bread is made in a small way, but we are often asked how Bread is made in large quantities, how we can always have it the same, if we don't have bad luck at any time, etc.

Making Bread is our bakers' business. Instead of making a small batch once or twice a week, under varying conditions, we are making it all the time, under scientific principles—even temperature, up-to-date machinery, a large, clean, airy bakery, good workmen and the best of materials.

The cut shows the mixer in which the dough is mixed, and this is the only way to get a perfect mixture and is much more sanitary than the old way of mixing in a box by hand. When the dough is mixed the lever to the left is pulled and the dough dumped into a trough and left to rise. It is then put on a large hardwood table and moulded and put in pans. After baking it is wrapped in wax paper, with real value in every loaf and is always the same.
